Call for a Provider

To organize an Online Consultation Event

November 2021

PILOT 4 RESEARCH AND DEVELOPMENT is co-funded by the European Union

Project Overview

Although Tanzania has been considered as a model of performance in the fiscal arena, the country is at a crossroad of its strategic macro-economic development. The needs remain important in terms of public expenditure, health, water and sanitation<sup>1</sup>, education and poverty alleviation programs. The country has enough assets and resources to become a leader on sustainability and stability in the region. The human resources and skills' potentials are tremendous. Like many of its neighbours, Tanzania is facing challenges related to governance, tax administration, poverty alleviation, infrastructure, agricultural modernization, access to facilities in remote areas, and job opportunities for the youth. Stability, security and cohesiveness are among the country's long-term priorities.

Tanzania's population as well as urbanization are projected to grow substantially. The youth represents an asset for economic growth and transformation. A growing population will trigger an increased demand for infrastructure and amenities. Development is dependent on infrastructure, trade, Foreign Direct Investment, exports and an increased consumer base. Heavy Infrastructure investment into rail, port and road is expected bolster G.D.P.

The global objective of the project is to promote dialogue on economic resources, policy and fiscal governance in Tanzania and to create a platform for sustainable dialogue including public and private stakeholders in different regions.

The specific objectives are:

1. To promote and disseminate high quality and evidence-based research on policies, resources, economic and fiscal governance
2. To nurture debate among public sector, private sector, and civil society stakeholders on economic and fiscal governance issues
3. To increase research capacity and expand the links, networks and collaboration among economic and governance research institutions in Tanzania.

<sup>1</sup> According to the World Bank, issues related to water supply, sanitation, and hygiene (S.D.G.6) impose a US$206 million toll on the country's annual gross domestic product

Scope of the Service

The scope of the service is to organize a consultation Event about the project's third study on Macroeconomic Policies, Foreign Direct Investment and Emerging Economic Sectors in Tanzania.

3 topics have been preliminary identified. Only two of these topics will be discussed, each during a 2-3 hour session. These topics are:

- 1. Strengthening the Horticulture Value Chain: Policy Options for Tanzania
- 2. The Impact of Tax Policy on FDI in Tanzania
- 3. Achieving Inclusive Green Growth: A Pathway to Sustainable Development and Poverty Eradication

The topics may eventually be adapted by the research team and adjusted by the project team depending on the study's findings. These topics can also be changed following requests from the EUD or from the Ministry of Finance and Planning. We however expect the final choice of the two topics to be made at the end of September at the latest.

Our initial target was to attract approx. 100-150 participants to the consultation events, including key stakeholders, but because of Covid-19 we have decided to continue with the organization of an online event, which will be organized on a platform preferably Zoom, and simultaneously streamed online on a channel like YouTube, in order to be open for participation to a larger audience.

Suggested date: First half of November 2021, with possibly two sessions of two-three hours each, either in immediate succession, or organized over successive weeks.

Each session will start with one commissioned paper presentation (thought-provoking keynote speech of 10-15mn max), followed by a debate with 3-4 panellists and Q&As with the audience. Each session will last maximum 3 hours. The panellists should be recruited among researchers, good speakers, experts, civil society organizations, the private sector, and the government.

The registration to the event will be compulsory. But non-registered participants will have the opportunity to follow the event on Youtube.

Registration to the event is free.
